THE MUSICAL PATH TO TECHNIQUE: Design of the Heart

Self-Transformation in the Practice Room

with Burton Kaplan

Do you have any of these experiences when you practice your instrument?

- I cannot sustain my concentration. My mind slips. It wanders.
- I often feel that I have to start over again each day.
- It sounded so good a moment ago; why can't I make it sound like that again?
- I played it perfectly just before I went into my lesson; went into the audition; went on stage...but my performance let me down.

*since feeling is first who pays any attention to the syntax of things
will never wholly kiss you
e.e. cummings*

Self-Empowerment*

There are NEW solutions for each of these problems. In the workshop you'll observe the actual process of practicing as musicians try out new strategies to attach their musical imagination to their technique. You'll be privy to a new way of conceiving and processing musical notation which enables technique to evolve into a structurally sensible and emotionally compelling sound. AND, you'll be shown specific ways to increase the control of your fingers, breath and articulation to coordinate at faster tempos, play more in tune and communicate more effectively.

In addition, I'll introduce you to your Third Hand – the source of your power to coordinate your muscles and your emotions to create music that compels the attention of the audience.
